

Act II Scene 2

Schoenflies When You're Having Fun

Author: Maggie Corrigan

Dou manage to shed light on the list, gaining respect from the guard. He does a short bow before granting you passage into the city.

As you enter you are bewildered by the liveliness of the town, full of fresh sights all around. You take out a device in order to make sense of some of the rarities in the hustle and bustle, but it starts malfunctioning mid-scan. Your gadget alerts “Error... Unprecedented character in name” which is certainly unusual, especially since you were sure that you had just updated the device’s firmware two months ago. You put the device away, making a mental note to upgrade it when you have time.

Although you’d love to continue sightseeing, you make haste and turn, walking out onto another road. You try to confirm your bearings by checking a sign on the road before setting off, but to your dismay it only serves to confuse...
